ENCOURAGEMENT OF GATE EXAMINATIONS

The Graduate Aptitude Test in Engineering (GATE) is exclusively designed for students pursuing undergraduate degrees in engineering, technology, architecture, and science, primarily to facilitate admission to postgraduate programs or recruitment in technical and engineering sectors. In contrast, the Bachelor of Business Administration (BBA) and Bachelor of Computer Applications (BCA) programs are non-technical in nature, focusing on management, commerce, and application-oriented computing.

Consequently, the GATE examination is not relevant to BBA and BCA curricula, as these programs emphasize managerial, entrepreneurial, and application development competencies rather than core engineering or technical disciplines.

Sincerely
